

DARFUR DIARIES: MESSAGE FROM HOME

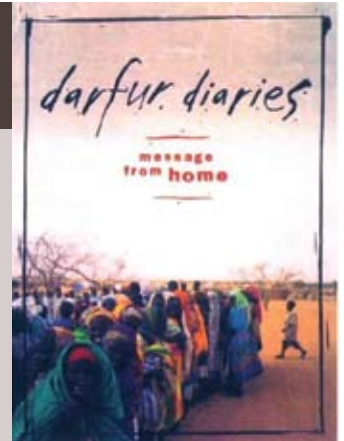

Free public film screening and post-film discussion organised by The Humanitarian & Conflict Response Institute (HCRI) Thursday 27 May 2010, 6pm, St Peter's House, Oxford Road

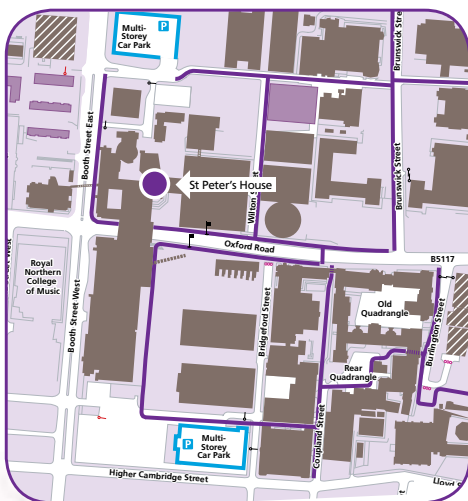

In October, 2004 three activists snuck across the Sudanese border into rebel-held territory to document the atrocities in Darfur. They returned with some of the first footage exposing the massive war crimes being perpetrated by the Sudanese government.

"The Darfuri men and women you meet in this film bear testimony to grave abuses of human rights, yet they maintain hope, strength, resilience. 'Darfur Diaries: Message from Home' is a powerful reminder of the high price people pay when their own government sanctions mass killing, displacement and destruction, and the world waits years to intervene. Watch this film and wait no longer."

Larry Cox, Executive Director, Amnesty International, USA

HOW TO FIND ST PETER'S HOUSE

POST FILM DISCUSSION PANEL

CHAIR:

- Professor James Thompson, HCRI.
Also Project Director of In Place of War and Professor of Applied and Social Theatre in the Department of Drama at the University of Manchester

PANEL MEMBERS:

- Professor Adam Azzain Mohamed, Professor of Politics & Research Methods, University of Khartoum, Sudan
- Dr Johannes Sjoberg, visual anthropologist and documentary filmmaker, lecturer in screen studies in the Department of Drama at the University of Manchester
- Coralie Giese, Humanitarian Aid Worker & PhD student
- Professor Steve Reyna, Professor of Anthropology, HCRI
- Dr Jenny Carson, Research Associate, HCRI

To reserve your place at this seminar please email rebecca.whitehead@manchester.ac.uk or call 0161 275 8967

MANCHESTER
1824

The University of Manchester