Encourage your students to start thinking about their plans as soon as possible.

Key messages to drive home:

MANCHESTER

- A degree is not enough to get a job (even from Manchester). Remind your students that they need to develop a host of skills. They should apply for work experience, voluntary work and/or be active in their extra-curricular pursuits.
- Graduate jobs can be open to any degree discipline. In the light of recent cuts to the public sector/third sector, students might want to consider options not directly related to their degree.
- Start early. Motivate your students to start thinking about their career plans from Year One onwards.
- Use the Careers Service before applying for jobs. The Careers Service can help students improve the quality of their applications and CVs.

What should students be doing in each year of study?

Here are some suggestions to help students learn more about career options, many of which are interchangeable between years:

Year 1

- 1. Starting to explore career options. Manchester Criminologists have a wide range of career options.
- 2. Developing employability through work experience, a part-time job or getting involved with activities outside their course, e.g. student societies, volunteering.
- Looking out for work experience opportunities or arranging their own through contacts (Careers Service can help them with this). Some sectors/organisations target first years, particularly in areas that are underrepresented by women and ethnic minorities (e.g. Windsor Fellowship).
- 4. Attending employer insight days available in some sectors.
- 5. Understanding that first year grades may be important when making applications for internships in the second year summer vacation.
- 6. Considering opportunities to study abroad in Year 2.

Events and Talks

The Careers Service will come out to meet Criminology students throughout their degree. In addition, the Careers Service has a full programme of talks, events and careers fairs (many are held in the autumn).

Full details are at www.manchester.ac.uk/careers/ students/events

Please note:

- Finance, Business & Management Fair 20 October
- Law Fair 22 November

There is also a Summer Graduate Fair for all areas of work 13-14 June 2012

Year 2/Penultimate Year

- 1. Registering for vacancy and event email updates via CareersLink.
- 2. Considering applying to the Manchester Gold careers mentoring programme (October deadline).
- 3. Gaining feedback on their CVs, applications and covering letters at a Quick Query appointment.
- 4. Applying (from October onwards) for a summer internship and continuing to build up work experience and activities for their CV.
- 5. Attending talks and careers fairs to get information to help with career decision and for possible summer internships.
- Understanding that some recruiters will start advertising graduate jobs in the summer before their final year commences.

Year 3

- 1. Researching and applying for graduate schemes from September and well before any given deadline.
- Considering all vacancy types, not just 'graduate training programmes', e.g. opportunities with SMEs and direct entry positions.
- 3. Attending employer presentations, talks and careers fairs to help with career decisions and to find opportunities.
- 4. Looking at the Manchester Graduate Internship Programme if staying in Manchester after graduation.
- 5. Booking a careers guidance appointment if feeling confused/overwhelmed or wanting to look at all options.
- 6. Researching postgraduate study options and funding in semester one, and being mindful of deadlines for some courses.
