The new season brings an exciting and varied programme for you with a wide range of events from drama, literature, music and more.

We start with a range of concerts as part of the Weinberg Cycle as all 17 of his Quartets are performed by our inspirational resident string quartet, Quatuor Danel, as they continue their exhilarating fourteenth season at the University.

Our Manchester University Music Society (MUMS) is back with concerts from Baroque to Big Band and everything in between, including a lunchtime performance as part of Musica – a special week-long festival celebrating all aspects of female music making, including composition, performance and conducting to celebrate International Women’s Day.

The ever-popular Walter Carroll Lunchtime Concert series features on a Thursday with a number of free concerts and a superb line-up of performers. These events are always popular, so place these in your diary.

If you love literature, our Literature Live events are not to be missed. Find an outstanding mix of readings and conversations with renowned authors at venues across the City, including Cathleen Miller, Horatio Clare, Valeria Luiselli and Max Porter to name just a few.

We have a great Drama offering this season. See stars of the future as our very own University of Manchester Drama Society perform Enron over three nights, as part of UMDS’ MIFT A season. Be transported to a digital world in Amy Conway’s Super Awesome World, hear tales around the kitchen sink in The Washing Up, or join the debate in COMMONISM, a meeting of two different people from two different countries.

We are delighted to be hosting the production of Retro(per)spective, co-presented by the Drama Department and the Sexuality Summer School, bringing the legendary lesbian feminist company Split Britches as they revisit over three decades of work.

These are just a few highlights that barely touch the surface of the superb talent and diverse events on offer. Don’t forget the handy tear-out events guide at the back of this brochure, which provides all of our events in date order. You can also visit our website for the full programme and up-to-date event information: www.manchester.ac.uk/mhc

The spring season is now on sale and you can purchase tickets either online (via Quaytickets), or in person at Martin Harris Centre Box Office, or call 0161 275 8951 (opening times 12.30-2.30pm).

We hope you enjoy the new season.

INTRODUCING THE MARTIN HARRIS CENTRE

The Martin Harris Centre for Music and Drama is a performance space at the heart of The University of Manchester.

The Creative Campus
The Centre is situated at the very heart of the University’s campus.
Since it opened in 2003, the Centre has contributed to the cultural life of students, staff, alumni and the wider community. It hosts new and emerging artists, as well as more established, internationally renowned figures.

The Centre offers a varied programme of arts events, many of which are free, in order to educate, stimulate and engage audiences, as well as provide memorable and inspirational experiences.

Events are open to the public and include concerts, theatre productions, literature and spoken word events, seminars and lectures.

It incorporates two major performance spaces: the 350-seat Cosmo Rodewald Concert Hall and the 100-seat John Thaw Studio Theatre, which can accommodate approximately 100 people.

Accessibility
The Martin Harris Centre is open to all, and strives to be inclusive. In 2015, the Centre embarked on a journey to become a more dementia-friendly and accessible arts venue. Over the past few years, adaptations have been made to the venue, the programme and to facilities, in order to encourage participation.

Relaxed Performances are now programmed each season. These concerts are designed to be less formal than other events and intended to be welcoming to people who may not feel comfortable visiting an arts venue. Small changes, such as leaving the lights on during a concert, and allowing audience members to move around or leave during a performance make the environment more welcoming.

The events are open to everyone, including people living with dementia, a learning disability, or visitors on the autistic spectrum. Friends, family members and carers are also welcome.

Food and Drink
The Centre has a number of shops, cafés and restaurants close by, delivering value for money, excellent service and great food and drink.

Here are just a few options available to you within 5 minutes of the Martin Harris Centre:

Café Arts
Based in the foyer of the Martin Harris Centre, Café Arts serves coffee, teas, cold drinks and light refreshments.
Opening times: 8.30am - 3.30pm (Monday to Friday) and is also open for weekend and evening concerts at the Centre.
You can pre-order interval drinks prior to the start of each event.

Christie’s Bistro, Oxford Road
Christie’s Bistro is based within the Old Christie Library, in one of the University’s most iconic buildings. It offers a range of light snacks and light bites throughout the day, coupled with a wide range of beverages.
Opening times: 9am - 5pm (Monday to Friday)
Tel: 0161 275 7702 Email: Christies.Bistro@manchester.ac.uk

The Modern Caterer at The Whitworth
The Café at Whitworth provides a seasonal menu that takes diners from breakfast through to evening meals, seven days a week.
Opening times: 9am - 5pm (Monday to Wednesday), 9am - 9pm (Thursday), 9am - 5pm (Friday to Saturday), 10am - 5pm (Sunday)
Tel: 0161 275 7497
www.moderncaterer.com

For further information please contact the Martin Harris Centre Box Office on 0161 275 8951.

Artwork on display
The Centre is fortunate to display a collection of stunning textile wall hangings by contemporary textile/fibre artist, Alice Kettle. These striking pieces of artwork; Red and Blue Movement in Three and The Birth of Motives in the Clouds, are unique in their grouping and were commissioned by The Oglesby Charitable Trust.
These unique literature events, organised by the University’s Centre for New Writing, bring the best known contemporary writers to Manchester to discuss and read from their work. Everyone is welcome, and tickets include discounts at the Blackwell bookstall.

LITERATURE LIVE: Michael Hofmann and Igor Klikovac

Michael Hofmann was born in Germany, grew up in England, and teaches at the University of Florida. Ingenious and brilliantly entertaining, One Lark, One Horse (2018), his fifth collection, ends a twenty-year poetic silence. He is known for translations of Döblin, Kafka, Fallada, Benn and Joseph Roth. His reviews and criticism are gathered in Behind the Lines (2001) and Where Have You Been? (2014).

Igor Klikovac is a poet whose work is as shaped by his Sarajevo roots as by his travels: long-resident in London where he works as a journalist, Stockholm Syndrome (Smith Doorstop) includes work from his third Bosnian collection, translated by the poet and John McAuliffe.

Gestures: Writing that Moves Between

Vahni Capildeo’s poetry includes Measures of Expatriation (Forward Prize, Best Collection, 2016) and Venus as a Bear (Poetry Book Society Choice, 2018). Skin Can Hold, their seventh full-length book (Carcanet, forthcoming 2018), arises from experimental theatre. Their non-fiction, on topics ranging from mannequins to masquerade to microtravel, appears regularly in PN Review. They are a Douglas Caster Cultural Fellow at the University of Leeds.

Rebecca Támás is a Lecturer in Creative Writing at York St John, and a widely published poet, whose work explores the connections between the occult, ecological suffering and feminist consciousness. Rebecca’s pamphlets include Savage (Clinic Press, 2017) and Tiger (Bad Betty Press); her first full length collection, WITCH, will be published by Penned in the Margins in 2019.

A poet and essayist, Anne Boyer’s honours include the 2018 Cy Twombly Award for Poetry from the Foundation for Contemporary Art, a 2018 Whiting Award in nonfiction and poetry, and the 2016 CLMP award for Garments Against Women (2015). Her most recent work, a collection of essays, fables and ephemera, is A Handbook of Disappointed Fate, and her memoir about cancer and care, The Undying, is forthcoming in 2019. She is the 2018-2019 Judith E. Wilson poetry fellow at Cambridge University.

LITERATURE LIVE: Andrew Miller in conversation with Kamila Shamsie

Andrew Miller was born in Bristol in 1960. A winner of the Dublin International Literary Award and the Costa Prize, Now We Shall Be Entirely Free (2018) "his excellent eighth book, is a cat-and-mouse thriller set at the height of the Napoleonic wars... It’s a wonder Andrew Miller is not a household name.” (Guardian)

Kamila Shamsie is the internationally-renowned author of six novels, and teaches fiction at the Centre for New Writing. Her most recent novel, Home Fire, was longlisted for the Man Booker Prize 2017 and won the Women’s Prize for Fiction.

LITERATURE

LITERATURE LIVE: Tracey Thorn in conversation with Jeanette Winterson

Manchester Literature Festival is excited to welcome back author and singer-songwriter Tracey Thorn. Described as ‘the Alan Bennett of pop memoirists’ by Caitlin Moran, Tracey formed her first band, Marine Girls, whilst still at school and spent 17 years in bestselling pop duo Everything But The Girl. Since then, she has collaborated with a wealth of artists including Massive Attack, Green Gartside, Corrine Bailey Rae and John Grant, written and recorded her first soundtrack and released three brilliant solo albums including Love and Its Opposite and 2018’s Record. She has also carved a new path for herself as an engaging, warm and witty writer, contributing regular columns to the New Statesman and publishing two excellent books, Bedsit Disco Queen and Naked at the Albert Hall.

Written with her trademark humour and honesty, Tracey’s forthcoming memoir, Another Planet: A Teenager in Suburbia, captures the energy, boredom and despair of being a teenager in the 1970s. Prompted by her original diaries, it charts her return to Brockwell Park and her reflections and observations on her own youth, her parents, her kids, growing older, motherhood, class, culture, commuter towns, female pop icons, music and creativity. Max Porter describes Another Planet as ‘wise, tender, beautifully observed, dead funny. A greenbelt memoir classic’ whilst Melissa Harrison calls it ‘a poignant, rueful, tender portrait of a world so little written about, but which so many of us will recognize. Thorn is a brilliant writer, and a brilliantly insightful chronicler of a certain type of English experience.’

Tracey will be in conversation with Jeanette Winterson. Professor of New Writing at The University of Manchester, Jeanette’s books include Oranges Are Not The Only Fruit, Written on The Body, The Gap of Time and the memoir Why Be Happy When You Could Be Normal? Presented in partnership with the Centre for New Writing.

Doors open 7pm, event runs 7.30-8.40pm.

This event is in partnership with the Manchester Literature Festival

LITERATURE LIVE: Cathleen Miller and Horatio Clare

Cathleen Miller is a visiting Fulbright Scholar and Distinguished Chair of the Humanities at the University of Manchester. She is a bestselling author whose biography of UN leader Nafis Sadik, Champion of Choice, was named one of the top ten biographies of 2013 by the American Library Association. Desert Flower, the life story of Somali nomad Waris Dirie, has been translated into 55 languages and adapted as a feature film. Her memoir, The Birdhouse Chronicles, recounts her life living in rural Pennsylvania amongst the Amish, and was nominated for a Pushcart Prize.

Cathleen is a professor of English at San Jose State University, where she teaches creative nonfiction in their MFA program, directs the Center for Literary Arts and acts as editor-in-chief of 150-year-old Reed Magazine. She was named a 2017 Silicon Valley Artist Laureate for her influence on the region’s literary community.

Horatio Clare teaches creative non-fiction at the Centre for New Writing; he has published a dozen books for children and adults, ranging from memoir and travel to short stories and novellas, including Running for the Hills (Somerset Maugham Award), A Single Swallow, Down to the Sea in Ships (Stanford Dolman Travel Book of the Year), Aubrey and the Terrible Yoot (Branford Boase Best Debut Children’s Book Award) and Icebreaker: A Voyage Far North (shortlisted for Wales Book of the Year).

Horatio is a regular broadcaster to BBC Radio, notably From Our Own Correspondent (Radio 4) and the presenter of the Sound Walks series (Radio 3).
LITERATURE LIVE: Max Porter in conversation with Luke Brown

One of the rising stars of British literature, Max Porter’s debut novel Grief is the Thing with Feathers won the Sunday Times / Peters, Fraser + Dunlop Young Writer of the Year, the International Dylan Thomas Prize and the European Literatuurprijs. It has been translated into twenty-seven languages and was described as ‘dazzlingly good’ by Robert Macfarlane. The acclaimed stage adaptation of Grief is the Thing with Feathers, starring Cillian Murphy, opens at the Barbican Theatre in March 2019.

Max’s second novel, Lanny, is an equally dark, funny, joyous and exhilarating book. Set in an English village, it captures the gossip, good will, mystery and eccentricity of the people that live in it and the people who used to hundreds of years ago. At the heart of the story is an imaginative boy called Lanny, the village artist Pete and Dead Papa Toothwort who has woken from his slumber and is listening, and watching. Join us to hear Max read and discuss his magical stories with Luke Brown, Lecturer in Creative Writing and author of My Biggest Lie. Presented in partnership with Creative Manchester and the Centre for New Writing.

Luke Brown is the author of the novels My Biggest Lie (2014), and North and South (due in 2020). He reviews books for the Financial Times, London Review of Books, Times Literary Supplement and New Statesman. Before beginning his career as a lecturer, Luke worked as a commissioning editor, for the prizewinning small press Tindal Street Press, and later as deputy editor of Granta magazine. He still works as an editor on a freelance basis for a variety of literary imprints, and arranges the Centre of New Writing’s programme of visiting speakers from the publishing industry and book world.

LITERATURE LIVE: Valeria Luiselli in conversation with Kamila Shamsie

Manchester Literature Festival is delighted to present a rare UK event with Mexican writer Valeria Luiselli. Described as ‘a writer of formidable talent, destined to be an important voice in Latin American letters’ by Daniel Alarcon, Valeria is the author of the novels Faces in the Crowd and The Story of My Teeth, the essay collection Sidewalks: and Tell Me How It Ends, an essay about the situation faced by children arriving at the US-Mexico border without papers. Critically acclaimed by the New York Times and NPR and winner of an American Book Award, the latter was called ‘the first must-read book of the Trump era’ by the Texas Observer.

Valeria’s forthcoming novel Lost Children Archive is her first written in English. It’s also her most powerful, timely and deeply lyrical novel to date, skilfully intertwining two stories that explore home, exile, memory, childhood, identity, history and belonging. The first story focuses on a family that set out on a road trip from New York to Apacheria, the region the Apaches once called home. The second story focuses on some of the children travelling to the US from Central America and Mexico, risking their lives crossing rivers and deserts with a coyote, and always without their parents, passports or maps.

Valeria will be in conversation with Kamila Shamsie, MLF Patron and author of Home Fire, winner of 2018 Women’s Prize for Fiction. Presented in partnership with Creative Manchester and the Centre for New Writing.

Lives of Letters: A poetry reading at the John Rylands

Leontia Flynn has published four collections of poetry with Jonathan Cape. Winner of the AWB Vincent Literary Award in 2014, her most recent book, The Radio (2017), was described as “an outstanding book from a poet who is not only one of the best writers of her generation but who seems, more and more, to be the voice of that generation.” (The Irish Times) Shortlisted for the T.S Eliot Prize, it won the Irish Times Poetry Prize.

Zaffar Kunial was born in Birmingham and lives in Hebden Bridge, West Yorkshire. His first full poetry collection, Us (Faber) was shortlisted for both the TS Eliot and the Costa Prize. He is the 2019 Burgess Fellow at the Centre for New Writing.

QUATUOR DANIEL

The University of Manchester’s internationally renowned resident string quartet.

Manchester’s most adventurous chamber music season – the Quatuor Danel’s fourteenth at The University of Manchester – offers a feast for lovers of Schubert, Weinberg and contemporary music. Featuring works by Camden Reeves, Richard Whalley and John Casken, and all the last great Quartets of Schubert plus the sublime String Quintet, the season also marks the centenary of Mieczysław Weinberg with a repeat of the Danels’ historic first-ever cycle of all 17 of his Quartets, first given here in November 2009. And there’s still room for Bacewicz, Lutosławski, Myaskovsky, Shebalin, Shostakovich, Prokofiev, Maconchy and – of course – Beethoven.

All concerts take place in the Cosmo Rodewald Concert Hall unless otherwise stated. Please note that there is reserved seating for all Quatuor Danel evening and afternoon concerts at the MHC. Seating for all Thursday lunchtime concerts is unreserved.

The Thursday lunchtime concerts are part of the Walter Carroll Lunchtime Concert Series, which is supported by the Ida Carroll Trust.

Lunchtime Concert with David Fanning (piano)

Reeves Still above Ground – Elegy for Cello and Piano (first performance)
Prokofiev Quartet No. 1 in B minor, Op. 50

A work for cello and piano by Camden Reeves, written in memory of his jazz-loving grandfather and with echoes of the style of Bill Evans, precedes Prokofiev’s pungently idiosyncratic first quartet of 1931.

Followed at 2.30pm by
Quatuor Danel Seminar

Weinberg Conference

Thursday 24 January – Sunday 27 January 2019
The Martin Harris Centre for Music and Drama

Recent years have witnessed a dramatic rediscovery of the music of Mieczysław Weinberg (1919–1996), the Polish-born composer who twice escaped from Nazi invasions and finally settled in Moscow. His substantial output includes some of the most powerful Holocaust-commemorative music ever written, notably his Auschwitz-based opera, The Passenger, dubbed a ‘masterpiece’ by Shostakovich.

The four-day conference at the University of Manchester marks the beginning of Weinberg’s centenary year. It brings together scholars and practitioners from East and West, with the composer’s first daughter, Victoria Bishops as Guest of Honour. The conference is co-sponsored by the British Academy and the Adam Mickiewicz Institute, Warsaw.

The programme dovetails with a cycle of his seventeen string quartets, to be performed at intervals throughout the event by the Quatuor Danel, artists-in-residence at the University, and two further concerts of vocal chamber works, including the song-cycle Old Letters, the Sonata for Solo Double Bass and the Piano Sonata No. 6.

For further details, timings and how to register, visit: www.alc.manchester.ac.uk/music/connect/events/weinberg-conference
In November 2009, in the Cosmo Rodewald Hall, the Quatuor Danel gave the historic first-ever complete cycle of the seventeen string quartets by Mieczysław Weinberg, putting the then almost forgotten Polish-Jewish-Soviet composer decisively on the musical map. Now in the composer’s centenary year they repeat the cycle, alongside an international conference, co-sponsored by the British Academy, that will gather together Weinberg scholars from Russia, Belarus, Poland, Sweden, Germany, the United States, Britain and France.

If you want to hear excellent strings composition at its most thrilling, daring and intimate, there’s no better place to start!

Lunchtime Concert

Weinberg Quartet No. 1 in C minor Op. 2/141

Weinberg Quartet No. 2 in G, Op. 3/145

Weinberg was a young virtuoso pianist, self-taught as a composer, when he composed his first expressive and energetic first string quartet in 1937. Its serenade-like successor followed two years later, following his flight from Nazi-occupied Warsaw to Minsk.

Followed at 2.30pm by Quatuor Danel Seminar

Evening Concert

Weinberg Quartet No. 3 in D minor, Op. 14

Weinberg Quartet No. 4 in E flat, Op. 20

Weinberg Quartet No. 5 in B flat, Op. 27

Settled in Moscow from September 1943, Weinberg embarked on an extraordinary series of chamber-music masterpieces, gradually finding his voice in his increasingly ambitious third, fourth and fifth string quartets (in three, four and five movements, respectively).

Lunchtime Concert

Weinberg Aria, Op. 9

Weinberg Capriccio, Op. 11

Weinberg Quartet No. 6, Op. 35

The six-movement Sixth Quartet marks the summit of Weinberg’s first flowering as a chamber-music composer. Appearing in 1946, it was blacklisted two years later in the Anti-formalist campaign, and not performed until the Danel’s sensational premiere in the Cosmo Rodewald Hall in January 2007. Here it is prefaced by two short pieces composed in Tashkent during his second wartime evacuation.

Please note start time.

Teatime Concert

Weinberg Old Letters, Eight Romances to words by Julian Tuwim, Op. 77

Shostakovich ‘Music’ from Seven Romances to Words by Alexander Blok, Op. 127

Weinberg ‘Dedication’, from Beyond the Border of Past Days, Op. 50

One of Weinberg’s most powerful yet least known song cycles, to Polish words by his favourite poet, followed by an early poem by Blok set under different titles by Weinberg and Shostakovich, the latter to accompaniment by piano trio.

Rosalind Dobson (soprano), Michelle Assay (piano), Marc Daniel (violin) and Yovan Markovitch (cello).

Please note start time.

Evening Concert

Weinberg Quartet No. 7 in C, Op. 59

Weinberg Quartet No. 8 in C, Op. 66

Weinberg Quartet No. 9 in F sharp minor, Op. 80

Following a gap between 1946 and 1957, Weinberg resumed his quartet cycle with a more restrained lyrical voice, heard at its most touchingly individual in the Eighth Quartet. The surrounding quartets are notable for their ambitious structures (No. 7) and restorative energy (No. 9).

Lunchtime Concert

Weinberg Quartet No. 10, Op. 85

Weinberg Quartet No. 11, Op. 89

Weinberg Quartet No. 12, Op. 103

Between 1965 and 1970 Weinberg approached a second apex of his string quartet output, working through the increasingly adventurous tenth and eleventh and culminating in the notably experimental twelfth, in which influences from Bartók and the Polish school provide new fuel for his mature musical language.

Please note start time.

Teatime Concert

Weinberg Sonata for Double Bass Solo, Op. 73

Weinberg Sonata for Double Bass Solo, Op. 108

Weinberg Sonata No. 6 for Piano, Op. 73

Two of Weinberg’s most striking solo sonatas, featuring the Hallé Orchestra’s star principal double bassist, Robert Carrillo Garcia and Weinberg conference co-convenor Michelle Assay on piano.

Please note start time.

Evening Concert

Weinberg Quartet No. 13, Op. 118

Weinberg Quartet No. 14, Op. 122

Weinberg Quartet No. 15, Op. 124

Three quartets composed in quick succession between 1977 and 1979 inaugurate the third phase of Weinberg’s quartet output, in which continued experimentation takes him through the quizzical compression of the single-movement No. 13, through the inscrutability of the five-movement No. 14 to the extraordinarily powerful nine-movement No. 15.

Lunchtime Concert

Weinberg Quartet No. 16 in A flat minor, Op. 130

Weinberg Quartet No. 17 in B flat minor, Op. 146

Weinberg Piano Quintet in F minor, Op. 18

A quartet dedicated to the memory of Weinberg’s sister, who perished at the hands of the Nazis, followed by a farewell to the genre that leads towards the light. And to finish, the dramatic potency of the Piano Quintet, the work that helped make Weinberg’s name and which he recorded with the Borodin Quartet.

Please note start time.

DRAMA

The Martin Harris Centre continues to offer the best, young, creative talent a ‘powerful voice in Manchester’. The John Thaw Studio Theatre is a valuable performance space where students make their own independent experiments in theatre – as performers, writers, directors and technicians. Many alumni have acknowledged what an important part these performances played in their creative and intellectual development during their time at university.

University of Manchester Drama Society: MIFTAs
The University of Manchester Drama Society usher in the start of their innovative and inventive MIFTA season with this first production. The most prestigious season of productions in the Drama Society’s calendar, MIFTAs are always sure to excite and entertain with their originality and variety. With the season home to some of the stars of the future, this first show won’t be one to be missed. This amateur production of Enron is presented by special arrangement with SAMUEL FRENCH LTD.

Enron written by Lucy Prebble.
Director, Jess Johnstone; Assistant Director, Sophia Rosen; Producer, Jake Ruding; Designer, Hannah Blau.

Exploring greed, power and humanity in its rawest forms, Enron transforms one of the most infamous financial scandals in history into a theatrical epic. Following the most powerful men and women within the company who rigged the system with constantly rising stock prices whilst turning around no real profit and sparked rolling blackouts across California, Enron looks at how the inevitable crash came about. Part of UMDS’ MIFTA season and is an amateur performance.

Tickets are available from the Manchester University Students’ Union

COMMONISM

Written by Smith & Sveen

“It has an emotional charge under its cool surface, is propelled by a sense of investigation into friendship, performance, identity, I found it quietly thrilling.” * The Times

COMMONISM is a meeting of two people from different countries in search of some common ground. It’s a performed conversation – a dialogue that asks questions about nationality, internationality, theatre and politics.

Andy Smith and Amund Sjølie Sveen award winning theatre makers. Andy is originally from the North of England, Amund from the North of Norway. In COMMONISM they explore nationality and internationality, capitalism and democracy, future and hope, and the need for change. They talk about who we are – and who we could be – in the times we live in.

Come and see if we can find some COMMONISM.

Retro(per)spective by Split Britches

Written and Performed by Lois Weaver and Peggy Shaw. Including work created in collaboration with Deb Margolin, Holly Hughes, Stacy Makishi, Vivian Stoll, Stormy Brandenberger and Bette Bourne and Paul Shaw of Bloolips.

Co-presented by the Drama Department and the Sexuality Summer School.

Legendary lesbian feminist company Split Britches revisit over three decades of work in their production Retro(per)spective, a compact gem of a show that, rather than resting on the laurels of past achievement, illustrates just how vital and refreshing they remain.

“Chemistry and comic timing honed over decades is evident – they work beautifully together, effortlessly riffing off one another, two halves of a seamless whole.” Tracey Sinclair, Exeunt Magazine (Retro(per)spective, 2017)

Retro(per)spective is a medley of 30 years of Split Britches’ performances that made the politics of gender and sexuality and the humour of human relations accessible to all ages and persuasions. Performed by Peggy Shaw and Lois Weaver. Retro(per)spective provides a humorous slant on love, life, work and play and features excerpts from old favourites such as Upwardly Mobile Home, Belle Reprieve, Lesbians Who Kill, Dress Suits to Hire and Anniversary Waltz as well as material from their newer shows, Lost Lounge and Miss America.

Co-presented by the Drama Department and the Sexuality Summer School.

Both shows will have a post-show discussion.

WE WELCOME

The Martin Harris Centre welcomes professional and amateur productions, both international and closer to home, to the heart of Manchester. We host powerful and dynamic productions in our vibrant and exciting performance spaces and reach out to wider audiences with performances in some of the most important venues in the City.

The Adhesion of Love: Walt Whitman and Bolton

LGBT History Month is delighted to announce that its English heritage premiere for 2019 will be The Adhesion of Love by multi-award winning playwright Stephen M Hornby. The play tells the extraordinary true story of how an architect’s assistant from Bolton crossed the Atlantic in 1891 to meet the visionary, queer poet Walt Whitman. 2019 is the bicentennial of Whitman’s birth and this full-length play offers an amazing new insight into his work and influence on the UK.

Stephen M Hornby is a multi-award winning playwright and National Playwright in Residence to LGBT History Month. He has spent six months of meticulous research creating the play as part of a PhD in playwriting from archive. His previous work has included Die Diana (winner of the Greater Manchester Fringe Best Drama Award), Loving Her, Loving Him (“A fine script” – The Reviews Hub) and The Burnley Boggler’s Ball (“Hilarious. 5 STARS.”– Remotegoat). Stephen was honoured with the 2018 WINGS award by the Swedish International Lesbian & Gay Culture Network for his short film Unchicken.

Matt Cain, writer of The Madonna of Bolton, patron of LGBT History Month, ex-editor of Attitude: “The Adhesion of Love is a gripping and fascinating play about a group of characters whose stories aren’t widely known but very much ought to be. It’s vital that this play is performed not just in Bolton, not just to reclaim the area’s LGBT past but also to make all parts of the UK more LGBT-inclusive places to live in the present.”

Stockport Youth Orchestra

Stockport Youth Orchestra returns to the MHC with a vibrant programme of music by Haydn, Stravinsky, Bartók and Korngold, conducted by Tim Crooks and Chris Orton.

“The arts aren’t just a nice-to-have add-on; they should be a core part of our lives. The Stockport Youth Orchestra has been a marvellous example of this.” Nicholas Kenyon, Director, Barbican Centre

Hallé Choral Academy Concert

Join the Hallé Choral Academy as they perform a selection of works including Rutter’s Feel the Spirit, led by conductors Joseph Judge and Michelle Robinson. The concert will also feature performances from a Chamber Ensemble from the Hallé Youth Orchestra.

1623 Theatre present a special adaptation for schools of: Macbeth: Toil and Trouble

After a sell-out run in 2018 at The Martin Harris Centre, award-winning 1623 Theatre Company returns with their 60-minute adaptation of Macbeth. Back by popular demand, Macbeth: Toil and Trouble focuses upon the central relationship within the story, charting the journey of Shakespeare’s infamous duo from the initial prophecy that Macbeth will become King, until their untimely demise.

This fast-paced adaptation is sure to thrill audiences young and old alike as, woven together by the three weird sisters; it explores the Macbeths’ relentless quest for power and the price they pay for undertaking such a deadly pursuit.

This performance has been designed specifically for school groups and compliments the requirements for the GCSE English Literature programme of study.

Following the performances, 1623 are offering bespoke practical drama workshops to further explore the central themes and moments from the piece.

Further information:
• This production is recommended for ages 11+
• A 10% discount is available for all group bookings.
• 1 free adult supervisor ticket is available for every 10 paying students
• A FREE Teacher’s Resource pack is available for this performance.

Getting here
The Martin Harris Centre for Music and Drama is situated behind the Manchester Museum, which is located on Oxford Road. It is approximately 1 mile south of the city centre.

There are 2 entrances to the building, one on Bridgeford Street, the other on Coupland Street. Please note that there is pedestrian access only to both of these streets.
The Cosmo Rodewald Concert Hall and the John Thaw Studio Theatre can both be found within the Martin Harris Centre.

Sat Nav:
Please do not rely on your satellite navigation system to find the Martin Harris Centre, as our postcode covers the entire University of Manchester campus. As an alternative, we would advise patrons to use Google maps.

Find us on Google: www.google.com/maps and search for Martin Harris Centre.

By Bus: Direct routes to Oxford Road run regularly from Piccadilly Gardens in Central Manchester. Routes and timetable enquiries 0161 242 6040.

MetroLinks: For up-to-date information and timetables please visit the website: www.metrolink.co.uk.

By Train: Oxford Road station is a ten minute walk away. Train enquiries 08457 48 49 50.

Car Parking: Car parking is available in the multi-storey car park D (Booth Street West). During current construction work on campus, the car park is accessible from Higher Cambridge Street. Parking costs £2.00 from 4pm to midnight weekdays, £2.00 all day on Saturday and Sunday and is payable upon exiting the car park. Please note that there is no vehicle access to the Martin Harris Centre from either Bridgeford Street or Coupland Street. Please refer to the terms and conditions for the Booth Street West car park.

*Please note that if you stay after midnight then the £10 overnight charge will apply (except on Saturdays)
