

School of Environment and Development
Geography Seminar Series 2008-2009

Semester 2

Room 1.69/1.70, 1st Floor, Humanities Bridgford Street Building

Date	Time	Speaker	Title
Wednesday 18 th February 2009	4.00pm	Andy Large School of Geography Newcastle University	'Natural rivers': Hydromorphological quality and river restoration – a challenging agenda
SED – Research Seminar Wednesday 25 th February 2009	4.00pm	Andrew Barry Oxford University Centre for the Environment School of Geography University of Oxford	Mixing oil and politics
Wednesday 4 th March 2009	4.00pm	Anson Mackay Department of Geography UCL	Aquatic biodiversity in the Okavango Delta, Botswana
Wednesday 11 th March 2009	4.00pm	Colin McFarlane Department of Geography Durham University	Informality, comparison and Mumbai's informal settlements
Wednesday 18th March 2009	4.00pm	Stephen Tooth Institute of Geography and Earth Sciences Aberystwyth University	Mixed bedrock-alluvial rivers: characteristics, controls, consequences
Wednesday 6th May 2009	4.00pm	Clive Barnett Department of Geography The Open University	Logical geographies of action
Wednesday 20 th May 2009	4.00pm	Martin Evans Geography, School of Environment and Development, University of Manchester	Carbon Balance of blanket peat lands
Wednesday 27th May 2009	4.00pm	Roger Lee Department of Geography Queen Mary	Whatever happened to markets? Economic geographies and the power of markets