Summary of visit

The Faculty of Humanities is looking to build a select number of partnerships across the globe in which to develop a comprehensive and meaningful relationship that focuses on exploring potential research, teaching & learning and PGR opportunities. This is in line with the Universities Internationalisation strategy to support the university's core and enabling goals; world leading research, outstanding student experience, and global reputation.

Overall focus is to discuss possible Joint Phd Programmes; to continue to support the PGR exchange scheme; to discuss operational aspects of the bi-lateral research fund.

Recent engagement with University of Copenhagen

The Faculty of Humanities has been actively working with the University of Copenhagen over the last 2 years. Below is a summary of recent engagement:

Previous visits:

Below is a summary of the recent visits led by the Faculty of Humanities to the University of Copenhagen.

- October 2016: Keith Brown Dean and Vice-President led a visit to Copenhagen with the senior leadership team to explore possible routes of activity
- September 2017: Oliver Richmond, AD internationalisation; Joanne Kaiserman, Head of PGR and Internationalisation Support Services; Rosie Haynes, International Project Officer – visited to finalise the PGR exchanges, discuss possible joint research fund, and possible joint PGR programme.

- May 2018: to discuss operational aspects of PGR exchanges and bi-lateral fund; to further discuss joint PGR schemes.

PGR Exchanges:

In November 2017, a PGR Faculty wide exchange programme was finalised and signed. This exchange was inclusive for all students at the Faculty of Humanities at Manchester, and the Faculty of Law; Faculty of Social Sciences and Faculty of Humanities at Copenhagen.

Manchester's call closed in January 2018, and one student was successfully selected to take part in the programme. The student will be visiting the Faculty of Humanities in September 2018 for two months. Students taking part in this exchange are funded via the internationalisation fund.

The University of Copenhagen have yet to open their call.

Joint PhD Programme:

During the September 2017 visit, there was a brief discussion with Law, Social Sciences and Humanities on the opportunity for joint-PhD programmes. The University of Copenhagen currently has a number of Joint Phd programmes with various institutions around Europe – including Latvia and Iceland. They were supportive of a joint-phd programme and we are keen to explore this further.

Bi-lateral Research fund:

The Faculty of Humanities is looking to develop a joint seed-corn fund to develop greater research linkages between the Faculty of Humanities (UoM) and priority faculties of Law, Humanities and Social Sciences (UoC). Following discussion in September 2017, we are in the process of finalising the details of this fund. Initially, it will look like it will launch with a specific focus on political sciences at UoC, but remain faculty wide at UoM. The funding is for around £12k, and is focused on supporting mobility.

School of Social Sciences:

The School of Social Sciences has seen a number of recent activities with the University of Copenhagen, particularly in relation to political science. The HSIF Internationalisation fund recently awarded the school with funding to support a PGR exchange/workshop event which saw up to 5 students visit for a duration of 3 days each.

Research

Summary of Research Priorities at the University of Copenhagen:

The University of Copenhagen has identified nine areas of interdisciplinary research strengths:

<http://research.ku.dk/strengths/>

- Biological production
- Digital Relations (Health, Medicine and Physics)
- Food
- International Conflicts
- New medicines
- The self
- Health & lifestyle
- Water

Of these research priorities, the following have cross over to subject areas within the Faculty of Humanities:

- Food
  - o Agricultural systems (crossover in SEED)
- International Conflicts
  - o Securitisation in international conflicts
  - o Risk management and managing uncertainty in conflict
  - o Democracy as part of international governance
  - o International Law
- The Self
  - o Self-understanding
  - o Everyday perceptions of the self
- Health and Lifestyle
  - o Healthy ageing

In addition to the above research priorities, a number of additional research institutes have been identified that compliment research priorities at the University of Manchester. These can be seen in the appendix of this document.

Existing research collaborations:

Summary of current research projects with the University of Copenhagen

Academic (School)	Description of connection
Dee Reynolds (SALC)	Dee Reynolds is the lead on a Leverhulme International Network award, which includes Dr Boris Wiseman and the Faculty of Humanities at the University of Copenhagen.
Joe Ravetz (SEED)	Member of an FP7 consortium (now completed), "Public Participation in Developing a Common Framework for Assessment and Management of Sustainable Innovation" led by University of Copenhagen [KU], Danish Centre for Forest, Landscape and Planning, Copenhagen, Demark (Contact: Dr. Kjell Nilsson, although he since left the University of Copenhagen).
Soren Holm (Law)	The Centre for Social Ethics & Policy (CSEP) have previously had collaborations with the medical law group at the University of Copenhagen (Professors Linda Nielsen and Mette Hartlev) in the context of EU projects and would definitely want to work with that group in the future.
Jackie Carter (SoSS)	Links with Yosef Batti, a researcher on experimental methods who has a position in the Political Science Department through the Q-Step programme. She is planning to invite him to visit and give a talk and we have a likely Q-step student placement next year with him at the University of Copenhagen.
Ed Fieldhouse (SoSS)	Working with Dr. Kasper Hansen in Political Science Department in University of Copenhagen – they have a joint paper at the American Political Science Annual meeting in Philadelphia in September 2016. He has also visited SoSS giving a guest lecture, and been an external on their recent professorial appointment panel.
Dale Southerton (SoSS)	Member of the Scientific Advisory Board for the 'Food in Turbulent Times' project, Danish Research Council, PI – Lotte Holm, Department of Food Resources and Economics, University of Copenhagen (2012-2016).
Dale Southerton (SoSS)	Connected to the above, together with Prof Lotte Holm and others from University of Copenhagen, Dale is part of a consortium seeking to develop a H2020 proposal for a large European comparative study on food consumption.
Ingrid Storm (SoSS)	To give a talk at the University of Copenhagen for an event called "Social cohesion and religion - Methodological workshop". It is held 26 September, 2016 in the Faculty of Theology. The workshop facilitator is Karen Marie Leth-Nissen.
Antonio Nicolo (SoSS)	Working with Marco Piovesan (a former PhD student of his) on a research project entitled "The Hidden Cost of Specialization". An unfunded research collaboration at the moment. Marco is Associate Professor in Behavioural and Experimental Economics and Co-Director of the Centre for Experimental Economics (CEE), Department of Economics,

	University of Copenhagen.
Raffaele Rossi (SoSS)	On-going collaboration with Emiliano Santoro, Associate Professor at the University of Copenhagen for the last 5 years (http://www.econ.ku.dk/esantoro/). An unfunded research collaboration at the moment. So far they have co-authored two papers: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>• “Discretion vs. Timeless Perspective under Model-consistent Stabilization Objectives” (Petrella, I., Rossi, R. and Santoro, E.) Economics Letters, January 2014, 122:84-88</li> <li>• “Monetary Policy with Sectoral Trade-offs” (Petrella, I., Rossi, R. and Santoro, E.) 3rd round of revisions at the Scandinavian Journal of Economics.</li> </ul>
George Brook (Emeritus)  (SALC)	Long-term and continuing Dead Sea Scrolls cooperation with Copenhagen: a) cooperation in the production of a re-edition of manuscripts from Cave 4 at Qumran for which M was the academic lead but C got about $300,000 from the Carlsberg Foundation; all since spent by them on their staff long ago. We have had one joint conference which produced a volume edited by GB and the Professor of Old Testament at Copenhagen, called the Mermaid and the Partridge; b) As an advisor to the Nordic Network on the Dead Sea Scrolls, GB has been involved with colleagues from Copenhagen as part of a larger Scandinavian network. Also, GB co-supervised one C PhD students who came to M for a year; her thesis is now complete and published.
Erica Bafelli (LBAS), John Zavos (R&T), Anindita Ghosh (History)  (SALC)	Joint research project 'Religion, Women and Violence'. This project will be the subject of an AHRC network grant application. Colleagues from Social Anthropology (at UoM) are also involved. Atreeye Sen who is working on this project at Copenhagen was formally at Manchester.
Peter knight, David Brown  (SALC)	American Studies Research Network (also with Brown and Mississippi)
Roger McGinty (HCRI)  (SALC)	Roger McGinty sits on the scientific advisory board at the Centre for Resolution of International Conflicts

Other connections to Denmark

Academic (School)	Institution/Organisation	Description of connection
Rafael Popper (AMBS)	Fonden Teknologiradet (Danish Board of Technology Foundation)	Partner in a H2020 award led by the Danish Board of Technology Foundation, entitled “Public Participation in Developing a Common Framework for Assessment and Management of Sustainable Innovation”

Joe Ravetz (SEED)	Aalborg University Copenhagen	Involved in research project: “Governance of Transitions”.
Tarani Chandola (SoSS)	SFI (Danish National Centre for Social Research)	With Mona Larsen and Anna Amilon from SFI (Danish National Centre for Social Research, Copenhagen) and other colleagues from Norway (Institute for Social Research), Sweden (Lund University), Helsinki (University of Helsinki), Germany, and the Netherlands, we are putting together a research bid to NORFACE on “Health Inequalities across the Life Course (HILC)”. The bid is through the first round and we are drafting the full bid now.
Martyn Andrews and James Lincoln (SoSS)	Copenhagen Business School	Working with Mette Christensen at Copenhagen Business School. An unfunded research collaboration at the moment. Topic is 'Productivity and Labour Market Sorting', which will lead to 'one or two papers' and maybe a more extensive joint research agenda in the future.
