

the
CUPS
CURE
MARC

Centre for Urban Policy Studies

Centre for Urban and Regional Ecology

Manchester Architecture Research Centre

joint guest lecture series

"City-Regions: People and Places"

"The codification and regulation of architects' practices"

Rob Imrie

Although building regulations - whether enshrined in law or not - pervade, influence and often codify architects' practices little is known about their implications for architecture and the production of the built environment. In this talk, Rob Imrie will presents some preliminary thoughts and results from an AHRC funded research project on these issues.

Tuesday, 13 Mar. 2007 at 4p.m.

Room 1.69 / 1.70 Humanities Bridgeford Street Building

Campus map available at www.manchester.ac.uk/map

School of Environment and Development

Rob Imrie is Professor of Geography at King's College London. His background is in geography, sociology, and planning studies and he has a doctorate in industrial sociology. His main research interests are urban governance and community development, the impact and implications of urban policy in British and international cities, the geographies of disability, urban design and the codification and regulation of architecture.